

Callaway Golf Expands Mike Galeski's Responsibilities to Lead Company's Initiative to Grow the Game of Golf

CARLSBAD, CA, June 11, 2001 – Callaway Golf Company (NYSE:ELY) today announced that Mike Galeski, Senior Vice President of Sports Marketing, has expanded his responsibilities to include the direction of the Company's ongoing "Grow the Game" program.

Mr. Galeski will continue to head up the operations of Callaway Golf's Pro Tour Department, which he has run for the past eight years. In his expanded role, he will coordinate a team of top people focusing upon ways to encourage growth in the game. He succeeds Chuck Yash, who resigned to pursue other interests.

Stated Ron Drapeau, President and CEO, "As industry leaders, we believe we have a responsibility to find creative ways to introduce more people to golf and to retain those already playing this wonderful game, and I can't think of a person better suited to this effort than Mike Galeski. Starting with his literal grass roots experience working in his dad's pro shop as a kid and subsequently devoting his entire adult life to promoting the game, Mike understands the needs of golfers from all skill levels. That lifetime of experience coupled with his love of golf make him ideal for this added responsibility."

Mr. Galeski joined Callaway Golf Company in September 1993. Prior to that, he was Tournament Director of the Nabisco Dinah Shore golf tournament for seven years. A native of Watertown, Connecticut, Mr. Galeski was a teaching professional at Lake Almanor Country Club in Lake Almanor, California, and an assistant golf professional at Watertown Golf Club in Watertown, Connecticut. He graduated from St. Michael's College in 1977.
